

www.rocketlaunch.com.au

You wont be the first guy we have smiling...

David ... NSW - At 34 with a spinal cord injury and a penis that could be laid on a bench and hit with a hammer, I came across an ad in a paraplegics newsletter for the web site rocketlaunch, AMI-SCI. I responded expecting to be taken for a ride or not being able to afford whatever they were trying to sell me. I waited for the catch for a few months.

How wrong I was, I have received consultations, a nurse who will take my, or my partners call at any time for questions, nasal spray delivered to my door and a self confidence I never thought would return...

David ... NSW

Mick J from Sydney - I'm writing because i want other guys to know about your great service.

Since I met my girlfriend a year ago, there has been a strong physical attraction between us, but when I tried other medications they didn't work for me. Now, thanks to you, I get a great result every time and best of all, my girlfriend says it feels spontaneous!

A car accident 4 years ago left me with a T4 complete lesion and the challenges that go with it..

Now, if I get automic dysreflexia there's no problem with taking nitrates. Sex seems to be an uncomfortable subject for a lot of people, but you and the doctors make it a lot easier to talk about. It's great to have AMI-SCI solving erection problems for men like me.

I couldn't be happier with the treatment and appreciate your understanding and ongoing support. - Mick J from Sydney

We love receiving letters like this!

If you have suffered a spinal cord injury and think sex is just too difficult, then go to the rocketlaunch.com.au web site and see how we can help you to launch your pocket rocket.

www.rocketlaunch.com.au

AMI-SCI is a NOT FOR PROFIT Division established by The Advanced Medical Institute to help men and their partners who have suffered a spinal injury to restore their sexual health

PROUDLY SPONSORED BY AMI
advanced medical institute